Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the final two lines, "in a direction perpendicular to the front of the body," the structure of "front" has not been established sufficiently to make this geometrical relationship meaningful.

The examiner queries the limitation: "to shield, when the door is in a closed position, the appliance port from a view in a direction perpendicular to the front of the body." Does this mean that "the closed door covers the opening"?

In claim 13, line 2, the structure of "a handle configured to provide a visual impression of an extension of the user control and display unit " cannot be determined from the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-17, and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP02-230026.

Noting that the "front" of the oven comprises the door, and referring to the Figures and abstract, JP'026 discloses the invention as claimed, including an oven handle comprising a control and display unit (17, 19, 20) which is equally spaced from the door lateral edges and has upper and lower portions which can be identified as the recited "first" and "second" portions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP'026.

The claim differs from JP'026 only in calling for the control and display unit to divert air entering or leaving an oven gas port. However, this does not patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. It would have been obvious to so form the oven of JP'026 since such ovens conventionally have a port in the upper region of the door; and some portion the air passing through such a port would necessarily be diverted.
